

Johns Hopkins University
School of Nursing

General Career Information/Resources

Include information about the nursing profession in this section. For example, you might include specialties that are of interest, accrediting organizations, international opportunities, or continuing education information. You may collect this material in class or in workshops, the internet, or from colleagues and professors as well as other sources.